Amendments to Bill

WASHINGTON.—Provisions for American representation upon two international commissions created at the arms conference is made under an agreement reported Wednesday between senate and house conferees on the annual appropriation bill for the state and justice departments.

House conferees accepted senate amendments appropriating funds for American delegations to the commissions to consider revision of the Chinese tariff and to study the Chinese judicial system, including gradual abolition of extra territorial rights.

Another senate amendment accepted by the house conferees appropriates $20,000 for the allied debt funding commission.

The house managers also accepted a senate amendment increasing the state department's confidential emergency fund from $100,000 to $400,000. This had been requested urgently by Secretary Hughes.

A senate amendment reducing the appropriation for the inter-American high commission studying Pan-American financial cooperation and proposing to terminate its work within a year, was opposed by the house and finally eliminated, the senate managers yielding.

Deadlocks on several amendments resulted in the conference. Among these, which are to be returned to the house for final disposition, was the senate provision for recognition of Spain and appointment of an American minister. The house conferees contended that this was new legislation on an appropriation measure which would have to be taken before the house.

Other amendments returned to the house include provision for the fifth Pan-American conference at Santiago, Chile; for American representation on the International hydrographic commission, the international conference on maritime law and the commission for revision of war laws, the latter proposed at the arms conference.

The senate conferees receded from appropriations for national institute of agriculture at Rome and the British claims commission. A compromise was reached between the conferees for continuance of the Alaska Canada boundary commission.

Oberammergau Passion Play Of 1922
Maintains High Standard Of The Past

OBERAMMERGAU, Bavaria.—

By the Associated Press.—

Wednesday's informal presentation of the Passion Play before

an invited audience

of official

guests, among

whom were several hundred

German and foreign newspaper

correspondents,

gave evidence

that the Bavarian

peasants and

players were not

relaxing in devotion to their ancient vow and that the twelve-

year intermission had not stagnated their appreciation of the simple art of their historic religious pageant.

The performance was in the

ANTON LANG

nature of a final dress rehearsal and revealed individual and collective acting of such a high order that the patrons of subsequent performances will not have occasion to regret their journey to this picturesque upland village. Moreover, the peasants as hosts, as was demonstrated today, know how to make an army of tourists feel at home so far as physical comforts are concerned.

Anton Lang, who plays the role of the Nazarene for the third time, continues to be the outstanding figure in the cast. His voice is now rich and mellow.

The role of Judas, as played by Guido Mayer, particularly invites comment. Somewhat suggestive of pantomime, his impersonation furnished one of the most conspicuous pieces of acting in the whole performance. Hans Mayr, as Pilate, and Martha Viets as Mary, mother of Christ, complete the list of leading characters in the cast.

The musical interpolations by the chorus under the leadership of Guido Diemer, as well as the mass scenes, furnish other distinctive features of the production.

The members of the Bavarian cabinet and a large number of Bavarian parliamentary leaders were among the guests who arrived on three special trains from Munich.

The first public performance will be given next Sunday for which a capacity audience has been assured.

BUDGET CAMPAIGN IS STARTED BY Y.W.C.A.
WEDNESDAY MORNINGMembers of Board and Assistants Begin Active Campaign for $8,000

WHILE the entire week has been allotted to the campaign to raise the annual budget for the furtherance of Y. W. C. A. activities in La Crosse, the active campaign for funds was launched by members of the board of directors and assistants on Wednesday morning.

Assigned to respective sections of the city, twelve solicitors, including members of the official board began the subscription work on Wednesday and will continue throughout the week, according to announcement at the Y. W. C. A. office. It was announced that the least amount upon which the institution can effectively operate was $8,000. This amount has been placed as the goal of the solicitors.

Comparative figures of enrollment show that the local institution at the present time is accomplishing much more than the Milwaukee Y. W. C. A., which now is employing thirteen secretaries. During the coming year, and to a greater extent than in previous years, the Y. W. C. A. is planning active co-operation with the vocational school as well as various social organizations in the city.

27 THOROUGHBREDS DIE IN FIRE WHICH
DESTROYS STABLES

LEXINGTON.—Charred mounds of flesh and flame scarred debris Wednesday marked the spot where formerly the Camden and Milam stable stood at the Lexington track of the Kentucky Jockey club. Twenty-seven thoroughbred racers perished in the fire, which Tuesday night destroyed the stable. The structure was fired by lightning. The horses were the property of former U. S. Senator John N. Camden and his trainer, J. Cal Milam, of Lexington. Estimates of losses of from $300,000 to $400,000 on the horses, with little insurance, made following the fire, stood unchanged.

The scenes of the fire-tortured animals were heard for blocks and an examination of the ruins of the stables showed that many of the stalls had been kicked to pieces by the imprisoned horses.

CLAIMS SUPPORT

STATE CONFERENCEHas Candidate for Chairman and Will Fight to Control Organization of Delegates

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—A fight is expected to develop at a meeting Wednesday between the supporters of Attorney General William J. Morgan and his opponents when delegates from Milwaukee county are to be chosen to attend the republican state conference called by the committee of forty-four to meet in Milwaukee June 1, at which "safe, progressive" candidates will be chosen to go before the primaries September 4.

Dr. W. B. Gantfield, president of Carroll college, has been named to deliver the principal addresses at Wednesday's meeting and is expected to outline the principles upon which the fight against radicalism in Wisconsin is to be based.

The meeting will be organized in the usual manner by the selection of a chairman and the appointment of various committees, the most important of which will be the resolutions committee.

Morgan Clan Seek Control

Arthur R. Barry has been mentioned as chairman. It is understood that supporters of Attorney General Morgan will fight to control the conference.

CONDITION OF HARRY
SHANNON IS IMPROVED
REPORT WEDNESDAYX-Ray Picture Reveals that Bul-

SAYS PHYSICIAN WEDNESDAYMrs. Shannon Tells Her Story to Chief of Police

HARRY SHANNON, who fired a revolver shot into his own head at the Beaumont hotel Monday night following an attempt to kill his wife in her room at the hotel, is resting easily at the La Crosse hospital Wednesday, according to a statement of Dr. G. R. Reay, attending the patient.

Contrary to early reports, an operation to remove the bullet has not been performed. It was stated Wednesday. Following an X-ray picture taken of the wound Tuesday morning, Dr. Reay found that the bullet had broken into seven pieces in striking the right cheek bone and that an operation to remove the lead would not be necessary. Shannon's condition was reported as improved Wednesday.

Tells Police Story

Mrs. Shannon's story to the chief of police Tuesday was that she and Shannon were married three years ago at Freeport, Ill. The parents of both live at Milwaukee. While her husband has been out of employment for over six months, she has been compelled to work at whatever she could get. Mrs. Shannon told the police that she has been continually abused by her husband, relating one incident on April 22, when Shannon drew a razor to injure her. She protected herself from personal injury only by a large key she happened to have at the time.

Following this incident she said she has refused him any attention and also has not lived with him. He had threatened on several occasions to kill her, she told the police. She told of meeting Shannon in the hotel parlor last Sunday evening when he made the statement that he was going to Milwaukee, Monday evening he wanted to see her again. She consented to see him in her room providing he would leave the door of the room open. He came and again said he was leaving for Milwaukee at 12 o'clock. He showed her the divorce papers and left the room saying he had something else he wanted her to see.

Returns with Gun

Shannon returned shortly, and flashing a revolver, said, "Here it is." Her cousin, Lyle Smith, with her in the room, commanded him to stop. Mrs. Shannon turning to face her husband, reached for the revolver as it was discharged. He was put out of the room into the hallway by Smith, and then fired a shot at his own head.

Mrs. Shannon told the police that her husband has not asked that the divorce proceedings be dropped, neither had he asked to come back to live with her. At his request she gave him a dollar Sunday with which to buy supper, she said. When he had taken to drink she had told him that she would leave. He then threatened to kill her.

FIGHT DEVELOPS
IN HOUSE OVER
LOAN TO SIBERIA

WASHINGTON.—A sharp political fight developed Wednesday in the house over the Fordney resolution authorizing a loan of $5,000,000 to the republic of Liberia, first authorized in 1918 and urged now by the Harding administration.

The measure was taken up under an agreement for five hours of debate the house meeting an hour ahead of time so as to reach a vote late in the day.

Two of the republican members of the ways and means committee, which reported the resolution—Hawley of Oregon and Fear of Wisconsin—voted against it in committee along with the entire democratic membership.

MADISON, Wis.—A motion for rehearing the case of Hans Rodd, Oneida county sheriff whose removal from office by Governor J. J. Blaine was held in April to be void, was filed with the supreme court Wednesday by M. B. Olbrich, executive counsel. Ten days were given by the court in which the governor may file briefs. After that time the matter will be taken under advisement and if the motion is granted, a reargument called for.

Rehearing will again open the case for consideration and decision by the court.

PRESENTATION OF NOTE DELAYED TO PERMIT OF
ALTERATIONS IN TEXTAttempt Being Made to Secure Modification of Reply that Conference May Continue; France to Stand Firm on Property Clause

GENOA.—By the Associated Press.—The Russian reply to the allied memorandum, which was ready for presentation Wednesday forenoon, was not delivered to the allies, as expected, for at the last moment, after a conversation between Foreign Minister Tchitcherine of Russia and Schanzer of Italy, it was decided the reply would have to undergo some alterations.

M. Tchitcherine left Genoa at 2 p. m., returning to Santa Margherita to consult the other members of the Russian delegation. It was not expected therefore, that the reply could be presented until Thursday. The fact that the delay was due to M. Tchitcherine's visit to Signor Schanzer was regarded in some quarters as a favorable indication.

In French circles the belief was expressed that an attempt was being made to influence the Russians to modify their reply so as to permit the conference to continue.

Must Have Guarantees

The preamble of the Russian reply to the allied memorandum it was learned Wednesday afternoon, urges the point that the entrance of foreign capital into Russia depends far more upon Russian guarantees for the future than upon discussion of claims. The preamble expresses regret that the allied memorandum paid more attention to contention about legal questions than to consideration of a financial arrangements for rebuilding Russia.

The Russians, in their preamble protest against the attempts of some powers to compromise them because they refuse to take responsibilities lightly and without careful weighing the possibility of their fulfillment. The reply says that as long as the political and economic quarantine is continued against Russia, such states as practice it cannot but encourage military adventures attributing to themselves the role of panderers of European civilization.

France Won't Yield

In a statement to the Associated Press Wednesday, before anything definite was known concerning the Russian reply, the French delegation announced that France's attitude on the foreign property issue as regarding Russia would probably remain firm, whatever attitude Belgium might eventually adopt.

The attitude of the French delegation is the result of public opinion in France, which is bringing great pressure to bear on the government to make no concessions regarding the inviolability of property rights, the statement says. French industrial companies, it adds, have recently conferred with Premier Poincare and urged him to take a strong stand for the restoration of foreigners' property, as otherwise they argue, future investments in Russia would be hopeless and as the French public would refuse to advance funds when it had no assurance that property rights would be respected.

Stiffer Than Expected

PARIS.—By the Associated Press.—The Russian reply to the allied memorandum will be stiffer than expected, says a dispatch from Genoa this afternoon. The change is understood, the message states, to be due to instructions received over night from Moscow, "demanding allied recognition of the validity of the principle of nationalization."

The reply, it is added, also insists upon a credit of $1,000,000,000 for Russia.

Upper Silesian Mess Settled

Along with the work of the economic conference other negotiations between the nations have been made the subject of a dispatch from Genoa this afternoon. The convention establishes a transitory status for Upper Silesia over a period of fifteen years. The convention, which is no longer than the treaty of Versailles, is considered one of the most complex diplomatic agreements ever reached. It must be ratified by the German and Polish parliaments within two weeks of the date of signature.

Allied Troops to Be Withdrawn

It is expected that June will see the end of the vexing Upper Silesia question when the interallied authorities now occupying that region will hand over to Polish and German authorities the territories respectively assigned to them. Simultaneously the interallied troops, mostly French with small English and Italian contingents, will be withdrawn.

Immediately afterwards, probably during August, according to the un-

LARGE AUDIENCE ENJOYS CONCERT AT SALZER CHURCH

Visit of Congregational Choral Union of Sparta is Appreciated

An enthusiastic and appreciative audience filled Salzer Memorial church to overflowing last Sunday evening, to hear the concert given by the Congregational Choral Union of Sparta under the direction of James H. Kerr. The choir numbering nearly fifty voices, was assisted by Mrs. Masters, soprano; Dr. Spencer Beebe, tenor; Miss Fox, contralto; and Mr. Kerr, bass, as soloists, and a splendid program was presented.

Four choruses were sung—"Sing Alleluia Forth," "Festival De Deum," the final chorus from "Christ the Victor," "Dudley Buck and Spicker's arrangement of 'O Israel,' and 'O Israel.' They were rendered with precision and brilliancy, the attacks being excellent and the shading beautiful. There were many minor solo parts in these choruses, as well as the leads, that were well done.

Two numbers, "Sweet Sabbath Eve" and "Sunset," were charmingly sung, the latter with considerable dramatic force, by the male chorists of twenty voices. Sparta can indeed be proud of the male section of this fine choir.

Miss Fox has a sympathetic contralto voice, and her solo, "The Man of Sorrows," was most pleasing. Mr. Kerr was in fine voice and sang "The Trumpet Shall Sound," from the "Messiah." An interesting number on the program was a cornet solo, "Rock of Ages," by the Indian cornetist, Mr. Dostader of the Tomsah Indian school.

A quartet composed of Mr. Jones, Mrs. Masters, Miss Fox and Mr. Kerr, sang a double number—the difficult "Still, Still With Thee," by Arthur Foote, and "The King of Love My Shepherd Is," by Shelley.

It is hard in a program of so much excellence to give any number special mention but the trio, "The Three Y's," voiced by Mrs. Masters, Mr. Beebe and Mr. Kerr, was one of the gems of the evening, the voices blending harmoniously and Mrs. Masters' lovely soprano showing to its best advantage.

The work done through the entire program showed practice and training and accomplishment through painstaking effort.

Mrs. William Crosby did valiant work, both at the organ and the piano; for this was a big program to play, and she did it well. Attractive programs added greatly to the pleasure of the audience.

In a happy speech preceding the last number, Rev. Panzani welcomed the Sparta singers, cordially inviting them to return some day, and a rising vote of thanks and appreciation was given them by the audience.

WANTS A SLICE OF TEXAS

The State of Arkansas is making an effort to secure a slice of the State of Texas. Although the latter state has been in the union since 1845 there has never been a question raised about her northern boundary until the present time when Arkansas has gone into court to make claim for a strip fifty miles wide. This includes some rich oil-bearing country and the cities of Dallas, Fort Worth, Wichita Falls, Sherman, Denison and Abilene. The population of the disputed area is 3,000,000.

CAMPAIGN OF LAND CLEARING PLANNED IN NORTH COUNTIES

CRANDON, Wis.—Land clearing schools will be in operation on a large number of stumplands this spring and summer. "Learn by doing" is the slogan adopted by the state's land clearing specialists of the college of agriculture.

The first "stumping bee" occurred in Marinette county when the 1922 campaign in the northern counties was opened. More than 30 schools have already been scheduled for Marinette county.

"The land clearing school is one of the best means of putting organized 'stumping' across," said John Swenchart, chief of the land clearing staff and former agricultural agent of this county. "We expect to ship demonstration equipment to a county, and then use a truck to reach all points in the county. One day will be spent in each neighborhood."

COUNTY CAUCUSES NAMING DELEGATES TO STATE MEETING

Citizen's Conference in June Will Pick Candidates to Oppose La Follette Ticket

MADISON, Wis.—Meetings were held Wednesday in most counties of Wisconsin by local representatives of the Committee of Forty-Four to select delegates for the Citizen's conference at Milwaukee, June 1. It is the intention of the central organization to have 998 delegates named, with representation from all parts of the state.

Local conditions in some sections are said to have caused a postponement of the meetings until a later time. In each instance, officers of the Committee of Forty-Four are confident that the delegates will be chosen as apportioned, and will attend the June meeting.

The move by Attorney General William J. Morgan to have delegations instructed by the local meetings has caused the first flurry in the ranks of the conference. He openly charged Milwaukee politicians with an attempt to control the entire June convention choosing "hand-picked" candidates with delegates named at a packed county meeting.

What effect the move by Attorney General Morgan, who is a candidate for governor, will have on the rest of the state is not yet evident. He expressed the belief that delegates to the Milwaukee meeting should be

You Can't Brush Or Wash Out Dandruff

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this tonight, and by morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.

How He Got Rich

MOST of the money you have made, so far in life, has passed out of your hands and into one of the cash registers manufactured by John H. Patterson, dead now at the age of 77. Patterson was a wizard of psychology. He knew the science of making money, knew it "from soup to nuts." From his life, you can learn much that may help you prosper.

Patterson's greatest legacy to the future is scientific salesmanship, of which he was the step-father. His factory, the National Cash Register Company, had the first school in our country devoted exclusively to salesmanship as a science or art. The idea was imported from Germany. In this school, Patterson's drummers were taught the answer to every possible objection or question that might be raised by a prospective cash register buyer.

From this, learn the value of thoroughness in everything. Learn, also, what Patterson instinctively knew—that success is largely a matter of salesmanship. No matter how wonderful your work, ideas or products, they will bring you success only in proportion to your ability to sell them profitably. Ignorance of the principles of salesmanship keeps many a man and woman working for a fraction of what they could get if they developed a greater market for their stuff, through salesmanship.

Maybe you wonder why you sometimes see, in a small store, a cash register worth as much as the store's whole stock. The answer is: Patterson spread the value of protecting money against theft and keeping accurate, analytical records—both functions combined in the cash register. The Patterson method of appealing to a prospective buyer was to show the buyer how to protect his cash against loss and how to run his business so it would at all times show him just where he stood. Patterson made money by showing other people how to make money. The customers came first, Patterson second. Usually it's the other way, cart before the horse. That's why so few small businesses attain the size of the National Cash Register Company.

John H. Patterson was one of the business giants now rapidly fading into eternity. He was in the class with James J. Hill, Andrew Carnegie, Henry Flagler, John D. Rockefeller, John Wanamaker and other pioneer leaders of industry. These men were the kind Horatio Alger wrote about—from poor boy to riches. They proved that the platitudes, much laughed at, get the money. And their lives are indelible lessons to young men of today who grumble at having to start at the bottom of the ladder.

Forward

THERE is every indication that the convention of the Committee of 44, to be held June 1 in Milwaukee, will bring together the most representative gathering of republicans held in Wisconsin in many years. It is said that every county will be liberally represented, and that the delegates from which no republican is barred.

A convention of such proportions could not be brought together did there not exist in the public mind some serious reason for it. Probably the reason in this case is a very general protest against the domination of Wisconsin by a single individual. Some citizens object to the things done through the influence by which this individual has dictated elections and programs in Wisconsin. They are opposed to legislation and to projects. But probably by far the largest number object purely upon the grounds that this is a democracy, and that any sort of dictatorship runs counter to the underlying principles of democracy. The fact of a political dictatorship, more than the immediate consequences of such a dictatorship, offends against their republicanism.

The public protest which the convention will represent offers a splendid opportunity for the improvement of political conditions in this state. It can be made a means of giving back to the people the right of popular elections which had been taken from them in the name of a benevolent autocracy. It may restore to them the right to choose for themselves, to hold and express political views, to set up programs, adopt platforms and elect officers through the expression of majority opinion. But these things cannot be obtained if those who shape the affairs of the convention are not alert to what the people want and in sympathy with the public's desires and interests.

If the convention shall resolve itself into a mere negative it will amount to little. It must not be satisfied with being against things. It must stand for things that are good. It must offer constructive plans that invite the confidence and sympathy of the general run of people. Its platform must make definite promises of use to all. If it names candidates, they, too, must stand for things which the people want and need. These candidates must not merely be men for whom republicans opposed to the La Follette-Blaine slate can vote. They must be candidates for whom can vote forward looking citizens who know that the world moves, and who want to move with it. These candidates must not be mere alternatives to an objectionable ticket. They must be good enough to fight for and to vote for no matter who opposes them. They should be the best the state has to offer, committed to a practical and useful program of state administration.

There is no doubt that the majority in the convention will be made up of progressive citizens. They will be of a mind with former Senator Bosshard and Senator Skogmo, representing the unbossed progressive republican thought in the state. Theirs is the inspiration of a fearless and independent republicanism. If the convention feeds that inspiration, they will go home and fight and vote for a new order of representative government. But if the convention gives them the old type of stalwart speeches and stalwart candidates, they will return home disgusted. They will have nothing for which to work. A great opportunity will be lost.

And so the most important thing in the plans for the June convention is to make sure that in tone and quality it shall truly represent a majority of its members and a majority of the citizens of Wisconsin. Reactionaries hostile to all progress should be met with the same discouragement in the convention, with which would be met the free-love, communist radical. Progressive republicans should be alert to stamp out anything calculated to misrepresent the motives and the true political philosophy of the great mass of republicans who hope in the platform of this convention to find their emancipation proclamation.

Perhaps we hesitate to recognize Mexico because we do recognize her.

"If you can't dig, duck," was the watchword throughout La Crosse today. The entire stock of visiting nurse tags and pennants, consisting of 22,000 tags and 2,000 pennants, was distributed among La Crosse people by noon today and an additional order was sent to the printers by the committee in charge. It was estimated that $1,500 had been taken in by noon.

Fred A. Ruplin, formerly salesman for the P. and W. Cigar company, has contracted for the northwest agency of the Nicholas Kubben Cigar company, Davenport, Iowa. His headquarters will be in La Crosse. Among his brands will be the Dulce Maria and Papoose.

The biggest event in the history of local Elksdom is to take place this week when La Crosse Lodge No. 300 will give its housewarming banquet, ball and reception in honor of the opening of the new home at State and Fifth streets. The festivities will be attended by many lodges from other cities besides the several hundred members of La Crosse lodge. The new building which will be dedicated by the week's celebration was completed last January and cost $45,000.

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

La Crosse is in the center of a heavy rain and snow storm, which extends all over the state and through the Mississippi valley. Rain, snow and sleet fell all night and this morning the temperature was down to the freezing point. The river is rising rapidly. Records at the weather bureau reveal that this is the latest in the season that snow fell at La Crosse.

Rev. Anderson of Viroqua has sold his farm near that place and will come to this city to live. He will also give up his preaching on account of his health.

One of the prettiest weddings of the season was solemnized Wednesday when Miss Marie Lienlokken was united in marriage to Mr. Theodore Thompson. Rev. Sagen performed the ceremony.

A claim had been located about a mile south of Brownsville. It is said to be one of the best in the Mississippi.

The Third Ward Aid society is twenty-two years old today and the anniversary will be celebrated this evening with a concert and ball at Armory hall. The society has a membership of 400.

F. W. Balsmyder, one of Chicago's leading real estate dealers, is in the city negotiating for the purchase of central business property in La Crosse for eastern capitalists. By their plan the property purchased is released to leading merchants for ninety-nine years. This is a new feature in La Crosse, although in successful operation in larger cities.

John M. Guy of Sparta has bought out the Garden City pool room and will open up in the Dr. Hoegh building on South Third street.

Dr. M. Soegard of Christiana, Norway, has come to La Crosse to establish his practice. He will open an office over the drug store of Tax Commissioner O. C. Hals.

The Phoenix Cure company has secured a suite of six rooms over the Exchange State bank of North La Crosse and is fitting them up with furniture. The institute, which claims to cure inebriates, will be opened in a few days. Dr. H. J. Reynolds is managing the place and Dr. A. B. Brackett recently of Eagle Grove, will look after the welfare of patients. The institute will doubtless add much to the prosperity and fame of the north side.

Jilted!

(BY JESSIE DOUGLAS)

She was a huddled little heap in the dim corner. She had cried until she could cry no more, and even her face seemed to smart from those scalding, searing tears.

Soon she would have to get up and meet the world again, and she sobbed as she thought of it. Life lay ahead of Alice Tremblage like a long passage with neither window nor light to make it bearable. She went over to the window seat and saw that the day was dying, a faint yellowing mist hung over the roofs of the great city and rifts of amethyst clouds were darkening to purple.

As she knelt there she could see quite plainly just how it had begun. The little weather-beaten farmhouse with the twinkling panes of glass had seemed to her a haven of rest. She had crept up those clean narrow stairs the first night to the west chamber and had slept in the old walnut bed, the sleep of the exhausted, city-wracked worker.

Could she ever forget the first morning when she had eaten her breakfast in the low-ceiled yellow kitchen from the oilcloth covered table, fresh berries and cream and crisp, crumbling corn-bread with country butter?

She and 'Aunt Martha'—as she had come to call her—had fallen deep into talk, had found themselves kindred souls, had laughed at the antics of the newest kitten and had made, before the week was out, a great batch of yellow cookies together.

"You'd make some man a right nice little wife," Aunt Martha had said admiringly.

Alice had shaken her head gayly and cooed, "My independence for me! Why, there's nothing like it! A cozy little flat and enough friends and books and pictures and flowers, what more could one want?"

Aunt Martha had only looked at her sagely.

"It's all right now, but wait till you get into your thirties and your forties!"

Thirties! Alice had turned her head away quickly to hide the flush that burned her cheeks. She had reached these ugly thirties now, and although she was quite willing to stay where she was, she didn't want to go any farther. Forty! Ugh!

They had both started as some one tramped across the kitchen floor and Alice had turned to see a young man drop a knapsack on the hearth and take Aunt Martha into his arms.

"Been tramping down through the Berkshires," he had explained, "and if you can take in a tramp for a few days—"

Take a tramp? Suddenly the house was full of laughter and sunshine and the smell of delicious things. Norman Taylor came and went, smoking a crooked old pipe, teasing them both indifferently and praising Aunt Martha's cooking.

"Never ate anything like your blueberry pancakes in my life!" he would say patting her arm. "And this cake! Good girl!"

Alice would laugh and flush when she had made the cake.

In the evenings he would shoo Aunt Martha out of the kitchen and, making a great show of tying an apron around his waist, he and Alice would wash dishes. How long it took! He would wave a knife he was polishing in the height of argument and Alice, watching it fearfully, would burst into delighted laughter.

Could she ever forget that last walk they had taken? With a basket of apples over his arm they had gone shuffling through the rifts of bronze-leaves to old Miss Winthrop's. She had tried to answer his gay sallies with her laughter, but her heart had been too heavy; on Monday he was going away.

Finally he had stopped short on the road and said, "What's the matter?"

She had meant to say, "Oh, nothing," but she heard her own voice saying, "You're going away."

Dismay caught her and her heart seemed to stop beating at that fatal admission.

"My own little girl!" was all he said.

They walked on through a golden haze—could she ever forget it?—the meadows seemed to be quivering with light under the sinking golden ball of sun. The windows of Miss Winthrop's cottage glittered like jewels as they came nearer. The whole world was irradiated by her exquisite, trembling joy!

They came to a halt, until they saw Miss Winthrop sitting there and then Alice had remembered that a world did exist, a world where ordinary things happened and life went on its uneventful course.

"We brought you," she began and then looked in dismay at Norman's empty arm.

"By George we forgot the apples!" he laughed.

They looked at each other guiltily, for the apples lay on the other side of the stone wall, just where he had dropped them when he had taken Alice in his arms.

Miss Winthrop for some strange reason had made Alice a present of a linen hand-drawn tea cloth. "That came from England, in my mother's chest!"

On the way back through the dusk they had debated the question whether Miss Winthrop had seen. The throaty chuckle of tree toads, the sleepy twittering of birds, the sweet breath of the woodlands had come to them through the twilight.

He was the perfect lover, Alice thought, considerate, understanding strong. Nothing could ever come between them, nothing.

The wedding was to be in March and Alice had come back to the city with her head full of dreams. At once they began that delightful task, the selection of their furniture.

Alice wanted a studio with swinging Chinese lamps and lacquer tables and odd shaped satin cushions that were decorative rather than useful.

Norman had said he wanted big, comfortable chairs; and here their first difference had come.

"We don't want it to look like a man's club!" Alice had said.

"Nor like a Chinese junk shop!"

OUT OUR WAY

WILD FLOWERS AND WILD WOMEN.

Norman had laughed. Next morning a letter had come. "I can see now I've made a mistake."

She knew it by heart, had read the simple words, unbelieving at first, and then in tearful anguish had walked the floor and at last had flung herself a disheveled little thing to weep out her eyes in the dimmest corner of her sitting room.

He was tired of her! He had hidden it at first in his splendid, masculine way, but at last he had to tell her so. She loved him. She loved him more than ever and she knew she would be willing to live in an unpainted shack with an earth floor.

She stood up at last and went into her own room and tried to brush her hair with unsteady fingers. She looked at her swollen, pitiful face with distaste; she wondered how she was going to drag out the miserable empty days that lay ahead.

And then she heard his voice calling her. "Alice! Alice!" he cried sternly when she did not answer.

The Lathrops maid must have let him in. Alice couldn't face him now, she felt. But she must get it over some time.

"What's the matter?" he asked when he saw her drooping face in the dim room. He came toward her eagerly. "I thought I wrote you at once, Alice, and let you know I made a mistake from the first."

She shrank back against the wall at this last cruelty. "I ought to leave the selection in your hands."

"I don't understand!" she whispered. "Why the furniture, darling, as though that matters, as though anything matters, when I have you!"

She was staring at him unbelievably, and then she put her hands over her face. The letter, the letter—it had meant only this!

"Come back in an hour, Norman, and have dinner here with me," she said uncertainly.

She waited until the door had closed on him to realize that joy had come back to her, that her dream was still hers and that greater than any dream was reality.

UNDER THE CAPITOL DOME

Odds and Ends of State Affairs by William J. Anderson

MADISON, Wis.—Each week sees more political activity in and around Madison. The latest development is the announcement of the candidacy of John F. Baker, now assistant attorney general, for attorney general. Mr. Baker is to submit his claim for recognition to the republican conference to be held in Milwaukee in June. It was his intention to announce himself a candidate and campaign for the primary nomination without any prior endorsement but he has concluded, he says, that such a course might result in the selection of a radical candidate for the office, and it is his conviction that the republican party must offer a united front to be able to overthrow the radical element in the party at the September primary. Therefore he will abide by the decision of the Milwaukee conference. He believes, his statement says, that the principles of good government are not conserved when a group of a few men attempt to tell the people who shall be their candidate for the various offices.

Mr. Baker is not new to politics. He was at one time a member of the assembly and was the author of the famous Baker law which limited the number of saloons each community should have, based upon the population. This measure was considered at the time one of the most drastic, as well as one of the most effective of the various efforts to curb the liquor traffic in Wisconsin. He has served the city of Madison as an alderman, and for a number of years has been assistant attorney general. He served Attorneys General Owen, Hays, Blaine and Morgan.

Governor Blaine held up the contracts for the Memorial hospital at the university. It is apparent that the shortage of funds is going to be felt before the legislature again meets to make appropriations, and it behooves someone to say where the work planned should be curtailed. There is considerable talk to the effect that the condition of the treasury was obvious before the governor's recent emergency session for the recall of the secrecy clause of the income tax law, and that it would have been better had the governor made the condition of the treasury the reason for the call rather than the reason assigned. Whether the hospital delay will be sufficient to tide over is yet to be seen; there may be other curtailing before the end of the year.

J. A. Becker, crop statistician for the state and federal department of agriculture, says that leading Wisconsin counties in 10-year average crop yields are: Corn, Sheboygan with 135.6 bushels; oats, Sheboygan with 133.4 bushels; barley, Racine with 133.3 bushels; rye, Kenosha with 121.1 bushels; buckwheat, Grant with 18.2 bushels; clover and timothy hay, Jefferson with 1.01 tons; potatoes, Florence with 135.6 bushels; tobacco, Dane with 32.7 bushels; spring wheat, Kenosha with 21.5 bushels. These averages for the years 1911 to 1920 have just been compiled by the crop reporting service in Madison. Leading counties in 7-year average yields (1915-21) are: Corn for silage, La Crosse with 9.70 tons; clover seed, Sheboygan with 2.56 bushels; cabbage, Brown with 9.50 tons; wild hay, Fond du Lac with 1.66 tons. Leading 5-year (1917-21) counties are: Timothy, Pepin with 1.72 tons; alfalfa, Jefferson with 3.02 tons; beans, Ozaukee with 13.0 bushels; peas, Calumet with 20.2 bushels.

An examination of income tax returns discloses the fact that taxpayers as a rule have an erroneous conception of what gifts and contributions are taxable in income tax returns. As a result of such ignorance, there is found in returns deductions of almost all kinds and classes of gifts and donations, only a few of which may be loaded with such illegal deductions.

Her First Love Affair

One moonlight night after attending a literary society meeting at a rural school house, a friend of mine escorted me to my home, writes a correspondent. As we stepped upon the front porch, Rover, our dog decided the stranger did not belong there. He chased him until he jumped over the hedge. I laughed, of course. Others returning from the meeting saw the entire scene. A full account of the incident was given in the paper at the next meeting. This ended my first love affair.—Merrill Herald.

How dead to some hearts is the bootlegger's liquor Which many a citizen brings into
There's nothing on earth that will do
Of giving the drinker a terrible
And if you love varnish and furniture
If hair dye is stuff you are crazy to Your health and your strength you can
By means of the liquor that's packed

Which comes from the bottle that's

I've seen the stuff poured in a number
At parties and dinners where revelry
And then watched the guests in insatiable Remove from the premises—dead to
The world!
Or, joyous it is to attain a condition
Where all one's surroundings whirl
By means of the liquor that's packed
The flavoring—extract, the chemical
To give you a hooch that was worn
The new-fangled liquor, the etherized
Which comes from the bottle that's

Oh, gay is the life of the bootlegger's

Who drinks—and then thinks to find

Who wakes in three days to inquire what has kicked him
And why he has dreams of a horri-

POPPY DAY MAY 27 DISABLED SOLDIERS WILL BE BENEFITED

Service Star Legion Announces
Date of Sale of Flanders
Poppy in La Crosse

Poppy day will be held May 27 in La Crosse. The Service Star Legion on Wednesday announced that on that day an active campaign would be made in this city to sell a blood-red poppy—the Flanders poppy—to every man, woman and child. The funds realized from the sale of the poppies will be used to care for disabled soldiers, to buy them little luxuries and little necessities that they otherwise would not be able to obtain.

"President Harding has asked everybody to buy a poppy and to wear it on Memorial Day," said Mrs. R. W. Keyes, of the Service Star Legion, on Wednesday. "The legion intends to make the 1922 Poppy day the most successful ever held. The city will be thoroughly covered by women and girls selling poppies. The money will be greatly appreciated by the disabled soldiers, of whom there are still a great number throughout the country, some of them are to be found in the hospitals here in La Crosse."

BY MARIAN HALE
NEW YORK.—Marcelle Carroll has the world at her feet! Yes, really! Quite at her feet. And all because Earl Carroll wanted to give his wife something entirely different.

"I couldn't see myself taking Marcelle into a house, four walls set on the earth with a lot of smoke blowing over it," says Carroll. "And so he built this heaven-kissing place, where all I need do is put my head out of my boudoir window and let cloud-mist curl my hair!" adds Mrs. Carroll. Carroll, who at 28 built the $3,000,000 Earl Carroll theater and opened it with his own play, built a bungalow, right in the heart of New York, for his bride. The exquisite little place, which he named the Starlit Bungalow, is on the roof of a 21-story building at Seventh avenue and Fiftieth street, near Broadway. It is quite as complete as any country home could be. There are a sun parlor with a beautiful fountain, living room, dining room, kitchen, bedroom, boudoir and study. There's a place for a garden, too. When summer really arrives there'll be such things as roses, tomatoes and strawberries growing in the Carrolls' real roof garden. Mrs. Carroll is intensely interested in the work of her young husband. But she draws a line at his study door.

Cuts Gas Bills

The Chambers Fireless actually costs you nothing—here's the proof of it:

You have been accustomed to using 90 to 120 minutes of gas to cook your roasts—a Chambers Fireless will do it as well with 20 to 30 minutes of gas.

The same proportion exists on other things you cook.

Figure it yourself. How much will your saving be per month?

Saves the Flavor

In addition to the saving of fuel, a big daily saving of high-priced food flavor makes a rapidly growing cash return.

Cooking in this way, you have as much meat out of an 8½-pound roast as you formerly had out of 10 pounds. The rest went out in steam.

The same proportion exists on other things you cook.

Figure for yourself. How much in dollars and cents can you save three times a day by stopping this loss?

Saves your Time

In time, health and convenience, a Chambers Fireless rapidly pays for itself—here's the proof of it:

You have been accustomed to assigning your morning to preparation of dinner, in the old way. The Chambers Way is to start your baking or roasting in the oven or your boiling under the hood, and with the food started there is no reason to spend further time in the kitchen.

Lessens Labor

How many steps are wasted daily in "running back to the kitchen" to see the dinner.

You have been accustomed to "watching the pot" day by day—three times a day—basting your roast, for instance. A Chambers Fireless, retaining all food flavors and steam, requires no water to keep the roast from burning, and is self-basting.

Once a meal is started—no more steps need to be spent in the kitchen until it is served.

WE WILL PROVE THE STATEMENTS MADE ABOVE AT OUR

HEALTH INSTITUTE AIDS STATE PROBE OF SOCIAL DISEASE

Provides Funds for Work Which Threatened to Lapse for Lack of Money

MADISON, Wis.—Continuance of research work into social diseases by the medical school of the University of Wisconsin is assured as a result of acceptance Tuesday by the regents of an offer of financial assistance from the Public Health Institute of Chicago. Investigations would have been discontinued on July 1, through lapse of federal appropriations had not the health institute made funds available.

Co-operative work at the University of Wisconsin and Northwestern university is planned, with more than two-thirds of the fund of $21,600 appropriated for the coming year to be used here for experimental and investigation work under the supervision of Dr. W. F. Lorenz of the Psychiatric Institute and Dr. A. S. Loevenhart of the university.

The medical school at the university is engaged at present in investigating the possible use of drugs in combating social diseases, with results so promising that the public health institute has offered cooperation and financial assistance for an indefinite period.

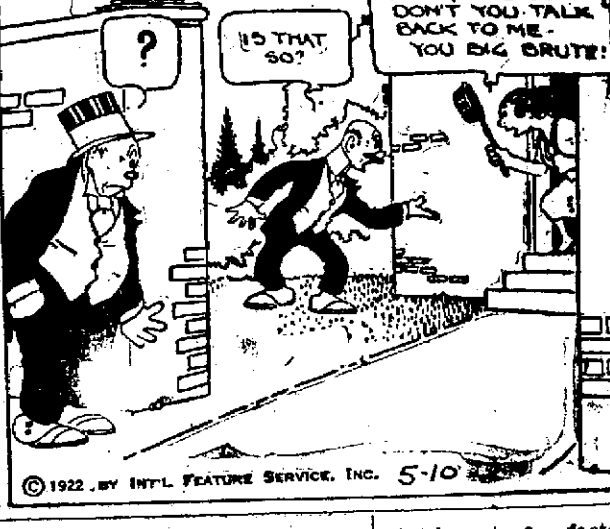

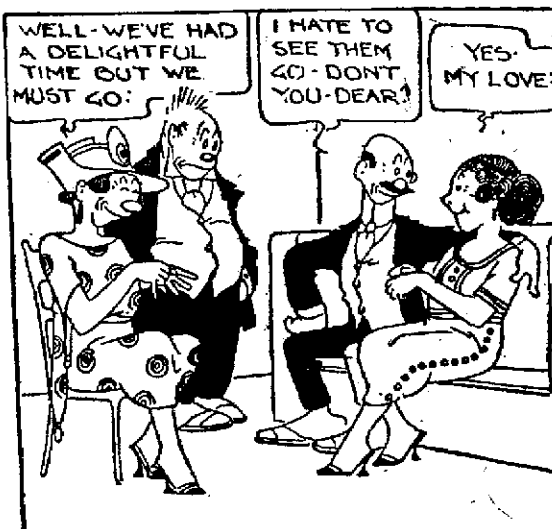

"Because of the remarkable work being done by the medical school of the University of Wisconsin and the possibility of discovery that will alleviate untold sufferings to the human race, now and in the future, we made this offer to the university," Myron E. Adams, secretary of the institute said.

THE FUR FARMS OF ALASKA

There are ten or twelve fox farms in Alaska. One of them, situated in the Tanana Valley, a mile and a half from Fairbanks, consists of ten acres of cleared land, the greater part of which is covered with pens in which the animals live. From a distance the fox farm looks like a huge chicken yard with walls of woven wire and enclosures of various sizes inside. Each pen is fifty feet long, eight feet wide, and about ten feet high. The wire is of tough steel and is sunk about four feet in the ground, and is then bent so that it runs inward under the ground for about two feet to prevent the foxes from digging out. At the top of the wire has an overhang of two feet to prevent the captives from climbing over. Each pen has a kennel made of boards like a dog kennel, the entrance to which is a chute or a wooden pipe a foot square. Only one pair of foxes live in each pen. They are very timid, and have to be handled carefully; most of the fox farmers will not allow strangers to enter their property for fear they will frighten the animals. The foxes are fed with salmon, moose meat, horse meat, rabbits, carrots, and turnips. A common feed is rice and rabbits cooked together in a stew.

In Paris, women with apartments are in demand as wives, widows second, girls third.

BRINGING UP FATHER

CORONATION DELAYS RUMANIAN QUEEN'S TRIP TO THE U. S.

Long Contemplated Journey of Queen Marie Put Over Until Next Year

SIBIU (Hermannstadt), Transylvania. — Queen Marie of Rumania probably will be obliged to defer her long contemplated trip to the United States until next year.

She had hoped to visit New York prior to the coronation of herself and King Ferdinand, which will take place here August 16, but the wedding of her second daughter, Marie, to King Alexander of Yugoslavia, early in June, will make it impossible.

Then she has a number of official visits to make this year to European countries so that a voyage to America after the coronation is August is extremely improbable.

The popular Rumanian Queen desires to express her warm appreciation and thanks for the many invitations she has received from women's civic societies, other organizations and personal friends in the United States urging her to visit America this year.

She has even had invitations from motion-picture concerns, one of which offered her a flattering sum to appear in an American scenario as "Queen of the Movies." She obviously had to decline these novel tenders. The coronation ceremonies, which will take place in the heart of the beautiful Transylvanian Alps, will be on a scale of lavishment and regal grandeur hitherto unknown in the Balkans. A magnificent cathedral of Byzantine design costing millions of francs, has been especially erected in Sibiu for the crowning of Europe's most beautiful Queen and King Ferdinand. The Rumanian parliament has appropriated an immense sum for the event. Most of the reigning sovereigns and heads of state throughout Europe have been invited. It is hoped here President Harding will send someone to represent the United States.

King Ferdinand and Queen Marie ascended the throne just before the beginning of the world war, and the continuance of the struggle made it necessary to postpone the coronation from year to year. August 16, which has been finally chosen for the event, is the anniversary of Rumania's entry into the war.

Massive crowns of gold, sprmounted by rare stones, have been made for the Rumanian rulers and the Queen has replaced all her precious jewels which were confiscated by the Bolsheviks early in the war by gems and jewelry of even greater beauty and worth. Her pearls alone are said to represent millions of francs.

FISHES OUT FOR FIGHT

It is the custom of Singapore to stock garden ponds with queer fishes—many of them of the fighting variety so dear to the heart of the Orientals. These fish are so combative that it is only necessary to place two of them near each other and irritate them a little to bring on a lively conflict. They charge each other with fins erect, at the same time changing color in their excitement from the dull gray-green to brilliant reds and blues. Indeed, confinement in close quarters is not needed to arouse their combative propensities. Place two glass jars close together, with one of these fighting fish in each, and they will at once swim round and endeavor to charge each other through the interposed glass. Even a single fish, seeing itself reflected in a mirror, will dart at its own image, and irritated all the more by its failure to reach the supposed enemy, will assume brilliant hues; seeing its reflected antagonist do the same, it will redouble its efforts.

Census Taken at Night

The census of India was taken on the night of March 18 and while it will be years before the facts are fully calculated and published it shows that the country has a population of 319,075,132 compared with 315,156,396 of ten years previous. The rate of increase has declined very materially as compared with the previous decennium.

SEARCH FOR A WHEAT SUBSTITUTE

In the islands of the West Indies, there is a demand for a substitute for wheat flour, and an investigation has been conducted by the British Guiana flour substitute committee along this line. Analysis collated by the committee show that the products of tropical origin which most nearly approach wheat flour in food value are rice, guinea-corn, and maize. These materials can be employed along only in the preparation of cakes. Without wheat-flour they do not give a satisfactory bread. "Other products," says "Nature," "of relatively higher starch content which

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Nobody Can Tell When You Darken Gray, Faded Hair With Sage Tea

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

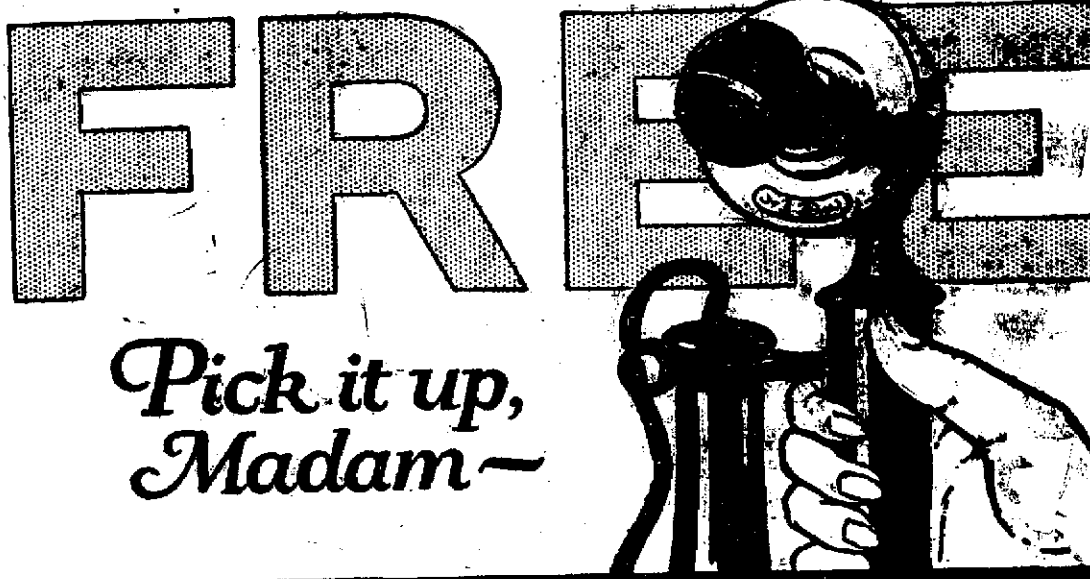

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through the hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color, and looks glossy, soft and beautiful.

are of local origin, e. g., cassava, sweet potatoes, tannias, and edoes, can also be employed in this way, but they yield an article of lower food value and wider nutrient ratio. It is possible however by the addition of a proportion of meal obtainable from locally-grown pulses, e. g., pigeon-peas, black-eye peas, lima, and bonavita beans, to bring the nutrient ratio of these more starchy products up to the desired standard. Action upon these lines is recommended, and a proposal is put forward for the establishment of a factory or factories for converting the locally-grown raw materials into non-perishable and marketable products.

Only seven railroads in Canada out of 66 operating paid dividends in the last fiscal year.

CHICAGO POLICE LAY BOMBINGS TO LABOR WARFARE

Two Policemen Killed and Two Buildings are Bombed
Wednesday

CHICAGO, Ill.—Two policemen were shot and killed, another wounded and two buildings bombed early Wednesday in disorders, police attributed to labor warfare. The shootings were followed by a running pistol fight in which the killers eluded police.

Charles C. Fitzmorris, chief of police, immediately ordered every policeman on duty and directed that all labor leaders of whatever caliber be brought in. "I have ordered detention of every man who may have any information of the workings of labor attacks."

Although the killings and bombings were in different parts of the city, police believe they were directed by a single hand, desiring to express resentment at enforcement of the Landis wage award.

Since the labor war began thousands of dollars worth of property has been destroyed and scores of persons injured.

MADISON GIRL HURT IN FALL CONSCIOUS AFTER LONG COMA

MADISON, Wis.—The cause of the accident which early Sunday morning resulted in serious injury to Miss Mabel Johnson when she fell from the automobile driven by Alvin Hunt, a local man, are made undetermined Wednesday. Although she had regained consciousness several times during the night and this morning, Miss Johnson was unable to talk.

Her companion on the night of the ride with Hunt, Ella Gerich, asserts that the girl jumped from the car when it was turned in a direction away from her home, while Hunt claims that she became ill and fell to the ground.

Police have not detained any of the persons connected with the accident.

CLAIMS SUPPORT OF OWN COUNTY AT STATE CONFERENCE

gan for governor have a candidate for chairman and will attempt to elect him. It is also understood they will oppose the adoption of resolutions which fall to instruct the Milwaukee delegation for Mr. Morgan.

Supporters of Morgan assert that as the first candidate, subject to the action of the June conference, to come squarely before the people he has a right to expect support of the delegates from his own county, regardless of other candidacies in seeming conflict. They assert it is the purpose of county conferences to elect delegates in support of candidates and that they have no other function or purpose.

Claim "Steamroller"

Assertion is made by Morgan forces that every detail of the county conference organization has been arranged, from selection of a chairman to membership of various committees. If this attempt to control the county conference is approved, the necessity for holding the conference is not apparent, it is said.

At state or county headquarters of the committee of forty-four no comment was made on Mr. Morgan's charges of conspiracy, it being said that the matter is entirely up to the county conference which will act as a majority of the delegates decide.

M. Skirmunt and Dr. Walter Rathenau, the German foreign minister, also have discussed commercial relations between the two countries and Dr. Rathenau has agreed to arbitrate measures forbidding importation and exportation from and into Poland. Foreign Minister Skirmunt stated today that Poland was ready to proclaim the principle of liberty of transit through her territory for goods for Germany and Russia. This will be of great importance for both Russia and Germany, as Poland controls 650 miles of Russian frontier besides a network of railways leading to Russia.

ROBERTSON CHARGE MAY BE TAKEN TO STATE DEPARTMENT

British War Veteran in Conference With British Embassy Officials

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Possibility of the outgrowth of the romance of Miss Mary Culbertson, 21 years old, daughter of Senator Culbertson of Texas, and Alexander E. Robertson, British war veteran, being taken to the state department, was seen in some quarters as Robertson again went into conference with British embassy officials.

The British veteran laid before embassy officials Wednesday further information to support his charges that because of his affection for Miss Culbertson he was kidnapped by private detectives, and that these detectives attempted to railroad him out of the country.

Indications were seen in the statement issued Tuesday night by R. Leslie Craigie, first secretary of the embassy, after the initial conference with Robertson, that the war veteran had to some extent at least, impressed embassy officials with his story. The statement said: "The embassy was inclined to consider that certain aspects are presented call for further investigation."

Mrs. Zimmerman was nervous throughout the examination, but did not once vary her story of the drowning.

"Did you tell Mr. Zimmerman while you were quarrelling with him that the children would die before you would?" she was asked.

"I might have let that out of my mouth; I was nervous," she answered.

MANY OF GERMANY'S PATENTS BASED ON U. S. DISCOVERIES

WASHINGTON.—The American government finds itself under the revived patent treaty with Germany, faced with the necessities of paying royalties which it says may reach $5,000,000 to the Krupp firm on patents based on discoveries of American engineers, Thomas W. Miller, alien property custodian declared.

Mr. Miller said that among the 261 German patents filed here since July 20, 1919, none of which can be touched by his office, there are at least eight patents dealing with mobile artillery which "embody many principles of American railroad artillery." In official circles the belief is held that tracings of the American plans were surreptitiously removed from the war department and tracings made.

FOUR MEMBERS OF KENOSHA RUM RING BEGIN SENTENCES

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—Four members of the Milwaukee-Kenosha-Chicago liquor ring who were either convicted or sentenced on pleas of guilty, will leave Milwaukee Wednesday to begin their terms at Fort Leavenworth.

The stays of execution granted having expired, the four are expected to appear at Marshal Randolph's office this afternoon. DELINQUENT BADGER TAXPAYERS FACING SEIZURE OF PLANTS

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—Unless delinquent federal income taxes amounting to $100,000 are paid by Saturday, a large factory up state and numerous smaller concerns will be seized on warrants, according to an announcement Wednesday of A. H. Wilkinson, internal revenue collector.

The factory about to be seized owes the government $40,000 in back taxes. The next largest amount due is $10,000. From that sum the bills receivable dwindle down to 25 cents.

The drive on delinquent taxpayers will end Saturday and the government is empowered to seize property, even homes, if the authorities see fit. About 2,000 warrants remain in the hands of revenue men.

He has not yet filed his resignation with the police and fire board but will do so in time to give the board plenty of time to select a new chief.

The chief states that he intends to take a rest on account of his health and has been granted a leave of absence for the month of June. He was for four years assistant chief and for twenty years head of the department. Previous to that he served as patrolman, making thirty-two years in service. He believes a young man should have charge of the department.

Defeated Manchurian General is Reported at Dairien; Cut Railway to Halt Pursuit

TIEN TSIN—Chang Tso Lin, the defeated Manchurian general, is reported to have fled to Dairien. Observers say his troops have established three lines of trenches this side of Luau Chw. on the Mukden railway south of the great wall, but will only fight if General Wu's forces press them too hard.

General Wu's soldiers are still in pursuit. Twenty-eight troop trains each carrying 500 men have passed through this city to the east, of which three are reported to have already arrived at Peitang on the coast thirty miles east of here.

Chang's men have cut the railway from Taku to Mukden, to hinder the pursuit.

German monarchists are now appealing for support on the ground that "old times were better."

HOLD LABOR CHIEFS IN CONNECTION WITH CHICAGO DISORDERS

Big Tim Murphy, Fred Mader and Cornelius Shea Arrested on Wednesday

CHICAGO, Ill.—The police Wednesday raided the building trades labor headquarters and arrested three of Chicago's biggest labor leaders—Big Tim Murphy, Fred Mader and Cornelius Shea—in connection with bombings and shootings which early today resulted in the death of two policemen and serious injury of a third.

Murphy, known as Chicago's labor czar is out on bail after having been sentenced to seven years in the penitentiary in connection with the $400,000 union station mail robbery. Mader is president of the Building Trades council, while Shea, head of the teamsters' union. All records were seized.

Among 23 union members and officials arrested during the morning was John Rafferty, also charged with implication in the mail robbery with Murphy and an intimate friend of the latter. Rafferty was identified by witnesses as a member of a squad which bombed many buildings early today and which is believed to have killed the policemen. The bombings, with the resultant killings, were believed by police to have been in protest of the Landis wage award in the building trades, and part of a general labor warfare against employers of building tradesmen.

Bombs were set off in two buildings and numerous other structures were stoned.

Business Men Who Prosper in the Next 10 Years will be those who most quickly interpret present day conditions and readjust their selling plans to meet the new times. Great rewards await those who know and understand how to translate their knowledge into effective action. Several thousand such people will assemble at the

Eighteenth Annual Convention of Associated Advertising Clubs of the World

Milwaukee, June 11 to 15, 1922

They will swap experiences, exchange ideas, discuss plans for improvement of their advertising and selling methods.

For some years business has been done on a rising market. Now, we must readjust our plans to a falling market. Few business men, active today, know what that means, except those who have been finding the way during the last few months.

There will be business men at Milwaukee from half way around the world—and thousands from the United States and Canada.

In addition to intimate man-to-man contact in the general and departmental sessions of the convention, an opportunity will be given to obtain light on individual problems, there will be a great exhibit of domestic and foreign advertising showing how others have created sales through advertising.

The central location of Milwaukee, its wonderful transportation facilities and the fact that the convention will be held in a very large attendance. You do not have to be a member of an advertising club to attend.

YOUNG HARRIMAN TELLS WHY HE WORKS FOR MERCHANT FLEET

Thirty-year-old Son of "E. H. H." Already Power in Shipping

BY EDWARD M. THIERRY
NEW YORK.—A new figure is rising in the shipping world—William Averell Harriman, son of the great railroad king, the late E. H. Harriman.

With a heritage of brains and the genius for organization that was his father's greatest asset, Harriman is taking the leadership in building an American merchant marine.

"It is a great constructive work," he said, in describing for NEA Service his ambitions for American shipping. "We are doing pioneer work."

Harriman is only 30, yet in five years he has become a power in shipbuilding and ship operation.

"I got into the shipbuilding business by accident," he said. "And I'm keeping at it."

That is his modest way of saying it was his keen foresight of the need for ships that impelled him to go into shipbuilding on a big scale two months before America entered the war. It was this "accident" of guessing right, and foreseeing the needs of the nation, that put him into shipping.

"I am a believer in the United States merchant marine," he said. "When such a necessity as this comes, a necessity for developing our export trade and building a naval auxiliary that is a national asset, I feel that ways and means will be found to make a merchant marine a success."

Eyes Like Father's
Harriman, who is tall, slender and broad shouldered, with a wide firm mouth, dark brown hair brushed straight back, and dark face and eyes like his father, sits at a desk in an office overlooking lower Broadway and talks in a grave, serious way—about ships, he dislikes talking of himself.

He didn't say—though shipping men say so—that he has started out to bring into realization one of the little known dreams of the late railroad king. A dream of the late E. H. H. when he died in 1909, was an American merchant marine.

There are 32 ships of approximately 240,000 gross tons in the fleet operated by the United American Lines. They are owned by the American Ship and Commerce corporation and the American-Hawaiian Steamship company and their subsidiaries. Harriman is chairman of the boards of these companies, and his interests also include shipbuilding companies, steel foundry and machine companies, and a banking house.

Buys Large Liners
Harriman is proud of his recent acquisitions, the giant Resolute and Reliance, former Dutch ships completed in 1920 and now starting a fortnightly schedule between New York and Hamburg with calls at English Channel ports.

Originally schooled in railroading from the ground up, beginning immediately after leaving Yale, Harriman has since learned the shipping business from the bottom. He is married and has two daughters. At his home in Arden, N. Y., he farms on a large scale.

Harriman is upholding his father's reputation for hard work.

"I like work," he says. "I cannot

"MY SHIPS NATIONAL ASSETS"

WILLIAM AVERELL HARRIMAN

By William Averell Harriman, Chairman of the Board of the United American Lines.

I am a believer in the United States merchant marine. It is necessary in the development of our national economic life.

It is important that we should have an American fleet to carry on strategic trades. Manufacturers have found in the past that foreign lines are more interested in developing trade out of their own countries than out of ours.

High class passenger and mail ships have been lacking in the American merchant marine. They are essential as an adjunct to our army and navy establishment. The two ships, the Resolute and the Reliance, which the United American Lines are putting into the transatlantic service, are important not only commercially but as instruments of national defense.

They are national assets. The public is giving gratifying support to our efforts in putting these ships flying the American flag into service. We expect to merit their continued support through efficiency and service.

(Copyright, 1922, by NEA Service)

See how anyone could prefer to be idle. I am doing the thing which I believe is the best and the most important thing I can do for the interests of America. An American merchant marine means much to the nation.

REPORT SHOWS HOW TO SAVE MONEY ON BUYING FERTILIZER

MADISON, Wis.—Wisconsin farmers save from 5 to 10 cents a ton by buying in separate form any plant food needed to fertilize their crops.

This is the report of the soils men at the University of Wisconsin. Mixed fertilizer containing varying amounts of nitrogen, phosphorus, and potash, are manufactured and offered for sale at price from 5 to 10 cents a ton more than the plant food in them would cost if bought in the separate forms. This difference represents the cost of mixing and profits.

RULES TRUST BANKS MAY OWN LAND AND PUT UP BUILDINGS

MADISON, Wis.—Trust company banks in Wisconsin may own land and erect buildings not only to accommodate their own needs, but for general purposes as well, W. W. Gilman, assistant attorney general, Wednesday advised Marshall Cousins, banking commissioner.

Mr. Gilman held that under state law a trust company bank "may own and hold such land as may be necessary to accommodate a building of the reasonable needs of the bank in its business; and that upon such land it may erect, own and hold such a building as would be erected thereon by other owners of the land, and is not restricted to building simply sufficient for the present and reasonably anticipated needs of the bank in its own business."

STRICT OBSERVANCE OF STATE TRUCK LAW PROMISED BY HALL

Violators Subject to Fine; Enlarge Force of Enforcement Officers

MADISON, Wis.—Enforcement of the automobile truck regulation law passed by the 1921 legislature to classify and limit the weight of vehicles operated on Wisconsin highways is to be vigorously enforced, says S. Hall, secretary of state, announced Wednesday.

Truck owners are advised that they must have the weight without load, the actual advertised carrying capacity of the vehicle and the total weight of the vehicle and load, listed on the side in plainly visible type. Failure to observe this provision of the statute subjects the owner and driver to a fine of not less than $10 nor more than $25 for each offense.

Automobile inspectors were instructed by Mr. Hall Wednesday to commence making arrests generally for violation of the truck regulation law. He intends to enlarge the force of enforcement officers soon to aid in strictly applying the statute.

This new law adopted by the last legislature divides the highways of the state into "Class A" on which trucks with a total weight of vehicle and load of 12 tons may travel, and "Class B" on which trucks with a total weight with loads of seven and one-half tons may travel.

It is designed to protect the highways from severe injury due to heavy usage by trucks. Enforcement of the measure is placed with Secretary of State Hall.

THE ROBIN'S NEST

It is a fact that a robin's nest will last for several years after the birds have left. Yet with every hard rain the nest with which the bird is reinforced gets a severe soaking, and we are likely to wonder why it does not disintegrate like ordinary mud. Mr. George Gilbert explains the circumstances by calling our attention to the antworm, the robin's principal food.

After its nightly crawl the worm goes down and leaves its cast behind. You see the little cast, or bits of mud, along the edges of paths or on bare spots in the lawn and wonder what they are. Examine one and you will see that apparently it is earth so fine it is pulverized that it has no feeling of graininess. It has been ground in that finest of mills, the stomach of the antworm, and is an excellent fertilizer.

Brought up from the lower soil and cast on the surface, it is more than pulverized earth; it has in it some secretory fluid of the worm that makes it dry out hard and firm.

The robin finds this natural plaster, gets plenty of it on his beak and daubs the inside of his nest with it. Thus the worm furnishes the robin with not only the chief part of his meat diet but also the chief substance of his nest.

COLUMBUS AGAIN OUTCLASSED

The distinction of being the discoverer of America has been claimed for many other than Columbus. There is a story that Egyptian explorers beat Columbus by several thousands of years. This argument is based on the germination of seeds of the moon flower obtained from a burial wreath found on the head of the 5000-year-old mummy of an Egyptian princess.

Questions on the subject of the seeds were addressed to the secretary of the Royal Botanic society by a correspondent who declared that these seeds had actually grown and flowered.

The answer of the curator was that the story was lacking in verisimilitude. The moon flower, Ipomoea, is a native of tropical America, and for a wreath of it to have been found on the head of an Egyptian princess of that time means that America must have been discovered by the Egyptians 4600 years before Columbus.

CRACKS ON THE EARTH'S FACE

Forty thousand earthquakes take place in the world every year. That is approximately the number which scientific instruments discern, though they are not all definitely located, and only about 4,000 affect human beings. They vary from mere tremors to terrible disasters. Even now we have not got a full report of the earthquake which took place in China at the end of last year. It occurred in a region where many of the population live in caves, and the people were buried alive under the collapsing hills.

We are told that the hills literally flowed down into the valleys. Many unfortunates were sleeping on mud ovens, which collapsed, dropping them into the fire.

Of precise course of earthquakes we are still ignorant, and though something is gained by special building construction in threatened regions, nothing can really be done to guard against the danger.

BOOKS READ BY BOYS OF OLD UNKNOWN TO PRESENT GENERATION

Henty, Oliver Optic and Cooper
no Longer Popular With Young America

CHICAGO, Ill.—Henty, Du Chailu, Oliver Optic and J. Fenimore Cooper, favorite boys' authors of an older generation, are known to young America no more, but Mallory, Mark Twain, Robert Stevenson and Sir Walter Scott are as popular as ever, according to Carl Rodon, public librettist of the boys' club stationery bureau, who has just published a selected list of boys' books, 75,000 copies of which will be distributed during May 19-25, boys' week.

An analyst shows that fiction does not predominate. The biographies of Lincoln, Roosevelt and Edison, the Boys' Book of Mounted Police; the Book of Sports, compiled by Christy Mathewson, and others; the Boys' Book of Home Science and Construction, and books on camping and woodcraft, are in great demand.

Among the perennial favorites are "Tom Sawyer," "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court," "The Three Musketeers," "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea," and "The Jungle Book."

The most up-to-date adventure book is one on air fighting in France.

HUSBAND BY PROXY

In Russia a passport is a valuable possession and a person holding one of these papers can make capital out of it. Foreigners thus equipped are often bribed to enter into a marriage which lasts until the border is reached in order to help women out of the country. This service often commands a high rate and they are escorted in to Poland, Rumania or Germany and there the "Couple" part. Turks have the privilege of taking four women with them and the trip over the border is to them therefore very profitable. A legal complication has arisen over the possession of a Baku beauty whose husband entrusted her to a foreigner to get her out of the country, but during the trip the latter fell desperately in love with her and has claimed her as his own and has the records of a court in Russia to substantiate his claims where the woman declared she was the wife of the foreigner.

How ancient fashions are coming back into style. An Egyptian mummy and the flapper of today. Other olden-day dress designs that are being widely copied.

By MARIAN HALE

We are willing to give Shaw the credit for starting the general "Back to Methuselah" movement, but it is the ladies, bless 'em, who are carrying it on.

To be modern, you must be antique.

This refers to your clothes, not your features. Faces are still being worn young, and the adolescent figure continues to prevail.

But in your garments you must capture the antiquity of bygone dynasties and the quest for your summer outfits may lead you to haunts hitherto unfrequented by fashion seekers.

If you are conservative you may go back only to the Middle Ages for copies. Or the native togs of India, Persia or Russia may seem remote enough.

Call on Antique Dealer

In this case, your task is a simple one. Just go to any antique dealer, or oriental rug merchant. He will sell you a square foot of some old embroidery for the price at which you once bought enough for a whole bed spread, and you and your dressmaker can get together and repeat that on your gown until it is covered.

But being conservative never got any woman stared at on the Board Walk or at the Ritz. So if you really want to achieve something startling try to go back to the dawn of history for your inspiration.

And that leads you to the nearest museum.

Time was when a museum was a quiet restful place. Now, if you feel the urge to hold communion with a mummy you must get up in the morning. For the Egyptian room now looks like a bargain counter at ten-thirty.

the fragment of a design you will find a cluster of artists, drawing boards and palettes in hand, copying patterns with feverish zeal.

Some want the designs for their own use, but most are copying them for textile manufacturers. Machines and dyes are waiting for them.

The other day at the Metropolitan, in New York, as I was musing on the scene of activity, I looked over at the coffin, alleged to hold the mummy of the once beautiful Ta-Bek-en-Khonsu, who departed this life some thousands of years ago.

She's Alive!
I saw a sight that chilled my blood. For there was the ancient lady herself, standing calmly beside her coffin, looking about her with the calmness one could scarcely believe of someone just reincarnated after so long a sleep in such close quarters.

How young she looked—and how familiar!

Then my brain recovered its equilibrium and functioned. Ta-Bek-en-Khonsu had come to life, but she was reincarnated in the modern flapper!

Her bobbed hair and close turban gave her the correct head line of the girls who made the old Nile popular.

Her skin was of the dusky brown tropical tint, made possible by use of the new vermilion and brown powders.

The black line she had added about her eyes followed the narrow straight orb of Cleopatra rather than that of the normal eye nature had given her.

And verily, the 1922 model flapper who stood by the Egyptian coffin looked more like the ancient Ta-Bek-en-Khonsu than she did like herself.

WINNING FIGHTER REFUSES TO ACCEPT REFEREE'S DECISION

ATLANTA, Ga.—The unusual spectacle of a fighter refusing to accept a referee's decision in his favor was presented to a crowd of boxing enthusiasts at Ponce de Leon baseball park Tuesday night when Jake Abel of Atlanta, told Referee Glynn that he had not defeated "Red" McLachlin, of Saginaw, Mich.

The referee then called the bout a draw, but some newspapermen said they thought McLachlin had the better of the ten fast rounds. The men are welterweights. McLachlin recently obtained a decision over Abel, welterweight champion of the A. E. F.

RACINE, Wis.—Damages amounting to $16,000 were awarded in the slander suit brought by Dennis Fitzgerald against the Rev. Father J. B. Compensatory damages $12,000; punitive damages $4,000.

The attorneys for the defendant moved for judgment notwithstanding the verdict and was given until May 17 to make the motion and file a brief and the plaintiff was given until May 22 to file an answer.

The case grew out of statements alleged to have been made during church service by Father Piette in which the plaintiff charged his character had been slandered. Fitzgerald is a trustee of the church.

U. S. TO CONTINUE RELIEF WORK IF RUSSIA WILL AID

Relief Administration Will Remain Till 1923 if Present Policy is Continued

MOSCOW.—By The Associated Press.—If the soviet government continues its present policy of co-operation, the American Relief Administration will remain in Russia until January 1, 1923, instead of leaving on September 1 next, as originally planned, to take care of the "aftermath of the famine," Col. W. N. Haskell announced upon his return from Warsaw where he conferred with Walter L. Brown, European director of the A. R. A.

The relief organization will feed the population in the regions where the harvest is bad and in cities where the products are late in arriving, he said. This would be possible without increased expenditure above the amount voted by congress and the original appropriation for the work in Russia, he added, because some foodstuffs are available which were held up by the freezing of the Baltic sea late in the winter.

After September the number of those fed will be gradually reduced.

Why Not?

It was Memorial day. The whole village was out at the cemetery cleaning away a year's growth of briars and weeds and decorating the graves. One woman was busy pointing out to a stranger the places where different ones were buried. She seemed to be familiar with the whole graveyard. Her little boy was listening to every word. He finally inquired: "Mother, where is my little grave?"—Merrill Herald.

VALUATION OF RAIL PROPERTY IN STATE JUMPS 3 MILLIONS

Assessment of Tax Commission May be Changed at Later Hearings

GREATEST INCREASE REPORTED IN MILWAUKEE'S PROPERTY

Southeastern Valuation Set at Three Hundred Thousand

MADISON, Wis.—Railroad properties in Wisconsin are valued at $348,785,000 by the tax commission in announcement of its preliminary assessment Tuesday by T. E. Lyons, chairman. This is an increase from final assessment of $345,539,000 for 1921.

Upon this valuation, which may be somewhat altered by hearings before the commission, the tax to the state will be $7,381,114 an increase from $7,278,816 for 1921. The greatest value was set upon property of the Chicago and Northwestern railway in Wisconsin which was assessed at $122,000,000, followed by the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway at $85,000,000.

"During the last year and especially within the last six months the railroad situation has materially improved," Mr. Lyons said. "The volume of business is increasing and the earnings more encouraging, but the condition is still quite below normal."

The greatest increase in valuation was made on property of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul road which was raised by the commission from $82,000,000 to $85,000,000. Assessment of the Chicago, Milwaukee, North Shore and Milwaukee railroad was raised from $3,600,000 to $2,750,000.

The Green Bay and Western railroad company was valued at $3,500,000; the Great Northern was increased from $9,500,000 to $10,000,000. Northern Pacific from $5,500,000 to $4,000,000. Property of the Marquette Tomahawk and Western railway company was assessed at $150,000, an increase from $115,000.

Property of the Kewanee, Green Bay and Western railway company fell in value from $1,200,000 to $1,000,000 while that of the Oshkosh transportation company fell from $100,000 to $75,000. La Crosse and Southeastern was valued at $300,000.

DOUGH ON WATCHMAKER'S BENCH

Two barrels of flour are used every week in making watches at a well-known factory, which turns out from two to three thousand watches a week. Since a baker uses about three pounds of flour to five loaves of bread, it follows that for every watch the maker uses the equivalent of almost a third of a loaf. The flour is made into dough, and the dough is used to handle the screws, rivets, and other small parts. Each man in that part of the business has a lump of dough clings at hand, and when he wants to examine a screw he jabs the piece of dough on it. Then, turning it over, he has a good chance to look at it with his watchmaker's microscope, eyeglass. Many of the screws are too minute to pick up easily with the fingers, and many more, though large enough to be picked up, would be covered by the fingers or the forceps as to be almost hidden from sight.

For seal screws valued at $500,000 have been taken in Alaskan waters since 1917. Cholera is taking heavy toll of inhabitants of cities at the mouth of the river Volga.

'FLAPPERS DON'T EXIST,' SAYS ARTIST WHO PAINTED 'YOUTH'

Mrs. Agnes E. Mayer sitting before her canvas, "Youth."

R. Y. MARIAN HALL

NEW YORK.—Flappers do not exist!

This is the opinion of Mrs. Agnes E. Mayer, artist distinctive for the spirituality and beauty of the faces and figures she creates on canvas.

Mrs. Mayer's latest painting, "Youth," an exquisitely beautiful conception, has been the subject of widespread comment on account of its rare loveliness. The vital delicacy of the figure, that of a girl of about the flapper age, is magnetic and fascinating.

"The flapper, as we generally think of her," said Mrs. Mayer, "with her in-swagger, walk a-swagger, soul aswagger, is as nonexistent as mermaids. "There aren't any such souls!" she continued.

"Every girl and every woman has a beautiful spiritual side, which is her real nature."

"I have found that true in every case though some of my models I take from the streets and from prison. And I paint what I really see in their faces."

"I could remove the swagger drappings from almost any so-called flapper and find in her the soul of 'Youth.'"

Mrs. Mayer then told how she found the soul for one of her famous paintings, "Dour" (Give), which Mrs. Oliver Harriman presented to the American committee for relief in the near east and which sold for $150,000.

Searching for this face, to represent the spirit of charity, Mrs. Mayer found a youth on the city streets, ill-clothed and badly in need of help. But in his face she perceived something of what the spirit of charity must have, so she asked him to pose for her.

The picture moved along, with the lad as a model, until at a certain point the artist found that there was not the further quality in his face which she much have for her picture.

Seeking again for a model with which to complete the painting, Mrs. Mayer found a girl, a professional model, from whose face she completed the great work.

"Spiritual beauty," said Mrs. Mayer, "cannot be created, but it is to be found in every human being when one can touch the true vibration."

"I believe that a girl has the right to do anything which she feels will make her more beautiful," she continued. "But there is nothing which so destroys the spiritual as artifice."

"Beauty" is a wonderful introduction. "It is nothing more."

"If a woman is ugly she should be proud of her ugliness and rise above it."

"Personality, mentality and spirituality will hold interest."

THE MINING OF MEERSCHAUM

In Asia Minor meerschaum mining is an important business. Pits are first dug, and so soon as a vein of meerschaum is struck horizontal galleries are laid out. These galleries are often very long, and they vary in depth from 25 to 150 feet. The crude meerschaum, which is called hamash, is yellowish-white in color, and a red clay envelopes it. The blocks are purchased by dealers on the spot, paying according to the quality. They are then soft enough to cut with a knife, but they are dried before being exported.

VENEZUELA IS THE "LITTLE VENICE"

Columbus, while cruising in the Gulf of Paris, on the coast of Venezuela, during his third voyage, caught a glimpse for the first time of the mainland of the Western Hemisphere. Since he was ill with the gout, and his eyes troubled him, he did not go ashore, but as he lay in his cabin his mind was full of great imaginings. He was convinced that he had discovered the Garden of Eden. At the first opportunity, says an English writer, he sent a messenger to Spain, announcing the great news. One effect of the dispatch was to cause an old comrade, Alonso de Ojeda, to set out at once for the new land. He did not go with a hallowed wish to gaze upon the tree of life, but to make money; for Columbus had said that pearls were to be found in the region, and perhaps seeds of the apple that Eve had eaten. With Ojeda sailed Amerigo Vespucci. Skirting the coast of the mainland upon their arrival in the gulf, they reached a placid bay where the natives had built their huts on piling in the water. Their little village reminded Vespucci of Venice; so they called the place Venezuela, or Little Venice, and the name gradually came to be applied not merely to the village but to the whole region and became the name of the country.

This country is supposed to have 2,000,000 dope heads. Any sport editor knows the figure is low.

THE LANGUAGE OF THE WIND MILLS

It is no common occurrence in Holland to make announcement of interest to the locality by means of the vane of the windmill. When a miller gets married he stops his mill with the arms of the wheel in a slanting position, with the sails unfurled. His friends and guests frequently do likewise with their mills, in token of the ceremony. To indicate a birth the wheel is topped in a slanting position, but at a more acute angle than that of a marriage, and with the two upper sails unfurled. Should a miller die the sails of a mill are all furled and the wheel is turned round until the arms form an upright cross, in which position they are left until after the funeral takes place.

When Hungry Little Muscles Say, "Please Help Me"

DID you ever stop to think who it really is that's talking, when childish voices raise a clamor, "Mother, I'm hungry?"

It's really muscles and bones and nerves and cells worn in the stress and strain of play—that are calling for rebuilding material.

What kind of an answer? The right thing, or just anything? It makes a big difference.

Grape-Nuts, so deliciously crisp and appetizing to taste, and so quick and convenient to serve, is a splendid food for rebuilding young bodies. All the wonderful nutrient put in wheat and barley by Nature, including the vital mineral elements, is there—and Grape-Nuts digests easily, quickly and completely. Served with cream or milk, Grape-Nuts is exceptionally nourishing.

"That's splendid!" says appetite. "That's just the need!" say the hungry muscles, nerves and bones.

Ready to serve right from the package—always crisp and fresh. A favorite dish with all the family. Sold by grocers.

Single-Six Seven Passenger Touring

IN its unprecedented beauty and its typically Packard performance, this new Single-Six is worthy occupant of the high place always accorded to Packard among cars of the finest class.

The literal fact is that it embodies a degree of outstanding value which has heretofore been foreign to such cars.

Thus it is stamped as being unmistakably the greatest in the long succession of brilliant Packard achievements.

It would be difficult to imagine how one who recognizes all that is high and fine in a motor car, could see this latest Packard without giving it complete and instant preference among its kind.

BELGIAN TRAITOR IS "BURIED ALIVE" IN MONS PRISON

Not Guillotined for War Treach-ery, But Given Living
Death

MONS, Belgium.—"Armand Jeannes is dead!"

It was the commandant in charge of the gloomy, brick-towered prison at Mons who told me this, when I inquired for the Belgian arch-traitor who sold his country to Germany for 25 pieces of silver.

I had learned positively that this renegade spy—believed by many to have been the betrayer of Edith Cavrell, the heroic nurse who was executed in the war by a German firing squad—had not gone to the guillotine as reported, or committed suicide, or died a natural death.

"Monsieur Commandant," I pressed my inquiries, "has Jeanne said anything since his conviction and death sentence which would clear up the mystery surrounding Edith Cavell's betrayal?"

"Dead men tell no tales," said the commandant. "Armand Jeanne is dead."

Traitor is Actually Buried Alive

It is death—a living death—that has befallen Armand Jeanne. He is buried alive.

Though sentenced to the guillotine,
he probably will not feel the knife graze his precious neck. Only a tidal wave of public sentiment can sweep him to the executioner.

But Jeanne is dead so far as the authorities are concerned. He is hidden away in Mons prison, and in prison he will probably remain the rest of his days, seen by no human being,
and always in the shadow of the guillotine.

Belgium still has the death penalty in the penal code. But no one has been guillotined for nearly 60 years.
The reason is that back in 1885 two men were guillotined here in Mons and when shortly afterward it was found that they were innocent Belgium was so shocked that since then the king has commuted all death sentences to life imprisonment.

Usually the law authorities sign a petition asking the king to commute death sentences. But in the archtraitor's case they have refused.
Meanwhile all Belgian organizations of ex-soldiers are demanding Jeanne's execution, and the newspapers are carrying on a campaign for his death.

No Visitor is Allowed to See Him

It is futile to try to see Jeanne.
The prison authorities have reached the point where they do not even admit his existence! Thus they save both king and executioner from bearing the brunt of public sentiment.

This man of 38 originally sold his country for 25 francs a month. The Germans later increased his pay until he was getting 750 francs a month.

Jeanne disappeared when the German war machine collapsed, but fate played him a trick. When the fleeing

Betrayed, Betrayer and Belgian King

Here are Armand Jeanne, the smirking arch-traitor who boasted he had sent 126 Belgians, Frenchmen and British to their death during the war; Edith Cavell, the English nurse, among those he is believed to have betrayed; and King Albert, who is said to have saved the necessity of Jeanne's death sentence by Jeanne being "buried alive."

Germans destroyed their documents, one heap in a barn near the Belgian frontier in northern France was overlooked.

In this mass of papers were found 200 reports made by Jeanne, together with his German police card, and letters from him to his German chief, Kirschenheim, in which he boasted of his exploits and asked for more money for his "faithful service."

Jeanne claimed he had caused the deaths of 126 Belgians, Frenchmen and British, including Miss Cavell.

His trial was a sensation. At first he was contemptuous and defiant, but the evidence against him was so strong that his bravado soon vanished, even though no direct evidence was brought that he personally reported Miss Cavell to the German police.

WOMEN ARE GOING THE LIMIT

A masculine observer of human nature says that the end of the feminine "silly" season is not in sight yet for the women will continue to bother their hair and indulge in other excesses for a while yet before there will be a complete reaction. He also called attention to the fact that young thing who has not better sense but she may be a peroxide blonde doing penance. The aforesaid observer was Prof. Frederick in an

WHAT SOME NAMES MEAN

Siberia signifies "thirsty." Sicily is "the country of grapes." Caledonia means "a high hill." Asia signifies "in the middle," from the fact that ancient geographers thought it between Europe and Africa. Italy signifies "a country of pitch," from its yielding great quantities of black pitch. Hibernia is "utmost," or "last habitation," for beyond this to the westward the Phoenicians never extended their voyages. Britain is "the country of tin," great quantities being found in it. The Greeks called it Albion, which signifies either "white" or "high," from the whiteness of its cliffs or the high rocks on the western coast.

Arabs That Are Different

In the mountains of South Arabia, a region of tremendous crags and precipices, lives a mysterious tribe of people who are entirely different from the Arabs. They are far lighter in color, and live in villages, not tents.
They are said to be a relic of the Persian army which invaded the country nearly 1000 years ago.

DOLEFUL SONG TO GET RATS

The city of Budapest is overrun with rats and it has developed a real flute Piper, except that instead of a flute the modern piper makes use of a strange cry which is a cross between a doleful and monotonous song and a groan. He makes a polsonous brew in a pot and covered with a black robe, he chants over it with swaying of the body. The rats come out of their holes and dive into the pot. When it is full he dumps into the Danube. He is accredited with having caught thousands of rats in this manner and his services are in constant demand.

VAUDEVILLE, FARNUM—MAJESTIC

On a cracker-jack Majestic vaudeville bill headed by the African symphonies of J. Rosamond Johnson and his five dark-skinned aides, there is an excellent movie introduction in Dustin Farnum's "The Devil Within." It presents Farnum as a brutal sea captain who regards his men as so much cattle. For all his sins he is repaid two-fold, but his atonement finally brings him happiness. Virginia Valli appears as leading woman in this intense drama of the sea.

The musical sextette of colored folks is the high spot on the bill. In jazz, blues, ragtime and negro spirituals Johnson's company proves itself to be composed of natural musicians of a high order, and the act closes with a fast "jazz orchestra" number in which one member of the company stars as the liveliest drummer yet seen here.

TALMADGE, LLOYD—RIVOLI

Ginger is an untrained West Indian orphan of Spanish English parentage whose religion has been inculcated from the Bible of life. That that is a creed of humanity is strikingly presented in "Love's Redemption," closing today at the Rivoli Theater.

Norma Talmadge, the star, takes the role of the young girl whose unselfish interest and devotion brings a deeper sense of obligation to those with whom she comes in contact than could be brought by intensive study. The fiery, capricious character that the star has drawn tears with heart interest, love, pathos and quiet humor and makes the portrayal one of the most effective in Miss Talmadge's fine screen history.

"Never Weaken" also on the bill, is more than just a comedy. This newest release starring the bearded comedian, is three reels of a dramatic plot, brightened with Lloyd's inimitable brand of sparkling humor, and tensified by neck-breaking thrills.

CASINO TODAY

You don't need to be afraid to bring the kiddies, your best beau or your grandmother to see "Shadows of Conscience" at the Casino. It's just what we have been looking for in the way of clean, American drama. It has plenty of thrills for you but no blunders. The kiddies will like the child scenes and the comedy, your best beau would like the fights and the smashing climax, and your grandmother will enjoy the good old fashioned standard of morals that prevails.

"Shadows of Conscience" is a story of yesterday in this country, but the entertainment value is such that it can be appreciated at any time and in any place. Action and suspense run high but there is not a single objectionable scene or distasteful moment. Our censors must have had a light job when they gave this picture the "once-over."

Biographers of these movie youngsters will have to spend much more than the usual time on their achievements before their ages run into two figures. Miss Lake is outspokenly jealous of them all. "No star in the world could hope to be half as charming as these youngsters. We grownups in the picture are simply outclassed," she said.

STRAND FRIDAY

"Live and Let Live" to be shown at the Strand Theater today is told in a straightforward manner, filled with truthful incidents of everyday life. It carries a remarkable appeal. There is also a subtle blend of humor and sprinkling of tears through laughter. Every praise must be given the players who enact so truthfully the characters in Mr. Cabanne's drama, prominent among whom are Harriet Hammond, George Nichols, Helen Lynch, Josephine Crowell, Duleis Cooper and Gerald Pring.

LOVE AFFAIRS OF JAPANESE POETESS EMBARRASS FAMILY

Brother Resigns from Parliament and Goes Into Retirement Following Scandal

TOKIO.—Refusing to recognize the modern Japanese law which relieves the head of a family of responsibility for the conduct of its members, Count Yanagihara, brother of the poetess, Akiko Ito, whose famous divorce case startled the empire, has resigned from the House of Peers and gone into retirement.

The little poetess, already divorced, created a sensation last year when she suddenly married Mr. Ito, coal king of Kyushu, although she was known to love a young literary man named Miyazaki, whom she met at the home of Mr. Ito before her second marriage.

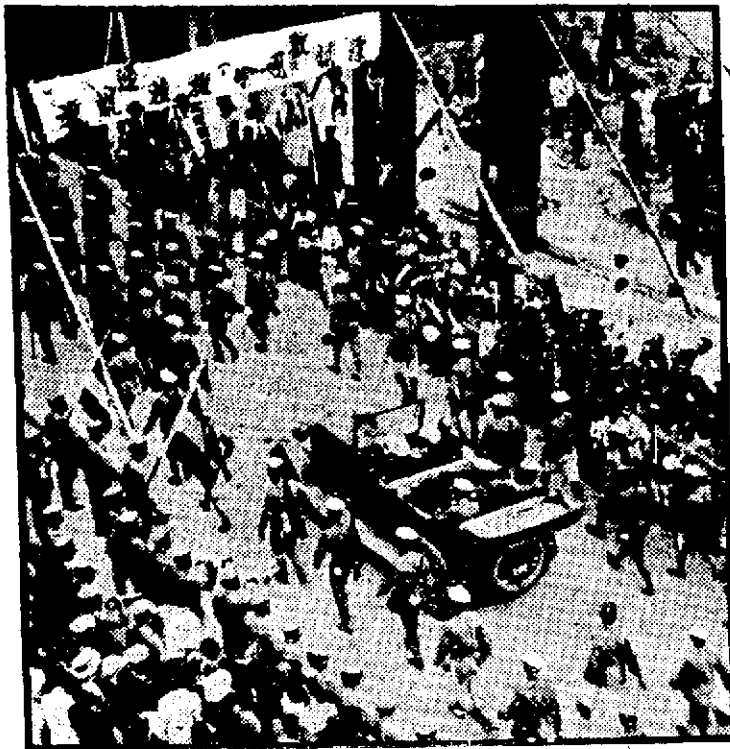

Thinking his sister would now settle down, Count Yanagihara, who had recently resigned the first divorce, began to take an active interest in affairs of state. He represented Japan abroad on several occasions and was regarded as one of the leaders of his party in the upper house of parliament.

But the temperamental poetess soon proved that she was far from settled in her rich surroundings. Society and political circles were startled last October when she suddenly left the palatial residence of her husband while the latter was on a business tour and went to her lover, Miyazaki, in whose home she was found several weeks later.

Every effort of her brother and his powerful friends to induce her to return home proved fruitless, whereupon the case was laid before the imperial government with a plea that Akiko be granted a divorce in order to permit a legal marriage to Miyazaki. The imperial household, however, declined to interfere on the ground that it would have a bad effect on the discipline governing noble families, and in desperation Count Yanagihara and his wife arranged a coup d'etat which resulted in the kidnapping of the girl from the home of her lover and the keeping of her whereabouts secret for the past several weeks.

In resigning from the House of Peers Count Yanagihara authorized a state that he always was identified with questions pertaining to a stricter discipline among government officials and of moral improvements in general, and adding that he felt a personal responsibility for the acts of his "errand sister" which could not be lessened by the modern law making the individual and not the family the social unit.

She Had Him

Hearing a faint rustle in the dark hallway below, the elder sister, supposing the young man had come, leaned over the balustrade and called out: "Well, Bessie, have you landed him?"

There was a deep, sepulchral silence for some moments. It was broken by the hesitating, constrained voice of the young man: "She has!"

THE FLOWERING TOBACCOS

Three varieties of flowering tobacco furnish one of the most easily grown subjects for a striking and picturesque planting either in the annual border, among shrubbery or in beds by themselves. Most stately of the group is Nicotiana glauca which grows five feet high, with huge ornamental velvety leaves and great clusters of white starry flowers on long tubes which surmount the foliage. Of less robust growth, but good for from two to three feet, according to location, are the sweet-scented Nicotiana Affinis and Sanders' hybrid tobacco, Nicotiana glauca. The last two come in a variety of colors ranging through various shades of red, rose, pink, and lavender.

FRUIT MEN WARNED AGAINST SPRAYING TREES IN BLOSSOM

Practice May Result in Serious Damage to Fruit Yield Says Horticulturist

MADISON, Wis.—Fruit trees should not be sprayed while in bloom, J. G. Moore, horticulturist of the college of agriculture, warned Wisconsin fruit growers Wednesday. He said that injury not only to the fruit yield but as well to the bees visiting the trees might result.

"Blossoming time is not the proper time to get good results in controlling pests that attack trees," Mr. Moore declared. "Severe injury to the blossoms may result, thus reducing the set of fruit, and there is always great probability of injury to bees-visiting the trees."

"The bees of the state are very much concerned over the possibilities of loss through unwise spraying. They point out that bees are necessary as a rule for a good set of fruit and are urging the fruit growers to do nothing which may reduce the number working in their orchards."

Londoners Go to Bed Early
How early we go to bed in London is shown by a census of underground passengers. The last trains in various directions carried respectively 45, 18, 19 and 25 passengers. So hard are our war habits to cast off. But, indeed, 10 o'clock was bedtime for a multitude of Londoners even before the war, and in that multitude were, and are quite a number of prominent business men. Your professional man seems to sit up later, and fashion, naturally, rarely retires till dawn.—London Times Weekly.

COMEDIAN ALTROCK OUTDOES WILLIAM TELL

Nick Altro on the ground offering his nose as a tee for the golf ball. Walter Johnson and Stanley Harris look on with Jim Thompson, southern professional, doing the driving.

Nick Altro, famous comedian of the Washington baseball club, is nothing if not original. Someone told Nick the story about William Tell shooting the apple off his son's head with his trusty bow and arrow.

That sounded interesting to Nick, so he decided to go William Tell one better.

Nick conceived the idea of placing a golf ball on his nose, as a substitute for a tee, and having said drive the ball, among them being Babe Ruth.

"Anyone who has ever seen me and therefore is familiar with the size of my nose will appreciate the great danger entailed in pulling this stunt," is the way Nick explains it.

Nick insists there are any number of golfers he would not allow to drive the ball, among them being Babe Ruth.

"You know Babe often swings where the ball ain't, and this is no trick when the golfer doesn't hit the ball. It immediately becomes a serious accident."

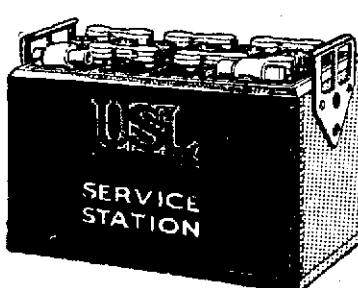

FITTINGS FOR THE ROD

The fittings of the rod are an important feature—they not only add to the life of the rod, but also, if of the right kind, add to casting qualities, and every little helps to lessen the effort and work of casting makes quite a difference in a few hours' fishing. The ferrules should be of German silver—they are stronger and better made than the brass ferrules, which are generally nickel plated, and many a defect can be hidden under a coating of nickel.

The selection of the hand grip, as to style, lies between the single and the double grip. After a day's casting with the double grip you will wonder how you ever got along without it. It is far more comfortable to fish with the upper hold on the rod in the line, and at the same time eliminating the cramped position of the left hand. If you have never used the double grip, old man, treat yourself to a good thing and select that style in your next rod. In the way of material, the solid cork grip, which is really made of a series of cork washers, makes the finest grip in the game and it sure has a soft feel to the hand. As a second choice the cane-wound grip is all right, but why take a second choice when you can get the real stuff.

Of course you will want a locking reel seat, the majority of rods have them anyway, and who wants to throw his reel into the drink right at the time when he has a chance to hook the big ones. Finger-pulls are going a little into the discard, but it is no disgrace to have one on your rod, and at that it assists the short-fingered angler to maintain better control over his cast. If you feel that you will have better control over your rod with a finger-pull, get it—you're the fellow to suit, not the innocent bystander.

NORMAL BASEBALLERS JOURNEY TO BANGOR FOR GAME THURSDAY

Coach Nohr of the normal school baseball team has arranged game for his proteges to be played at Bangor Thursday afternoon. A return game with the Bangor nine will be played later in the season if it is possible to arrange it.

The normalites have improved their game considerably since their game with Luther college last Friday. Though they won, 8 to 5, their victory was due mainly to timely hits, and the wildness of the opposing pitchers. The local team made nine errors, two of which enabled Luther to score.

Either Schultz or Gunderson will be in the box for La Crosse Thursday afternoon, with Stoneman on the receiving end. For the rest of the team the regular lineup will be followed.

WALSH ASKS BOXING MATCHES IN CAPITAL UNDER U. S. CONTROL

WASHINGTON—Visions of international boxing and wrestling matches in Washington—a city heretofore reserved almost exclusively in an international way to contests in diplomacy—were seen by sport followers in a bill presented in the senate Tuesday by Senator Walsh, democrat, Massachusetts.

The bill, modeled on laws in the statute books of New York and New Jersey would legalize the holding of boxing and wrestling matches in the district of Columbia under regulations and would provide for a commissioner of boxing to be appointed by the president. Boxing matches now are prohibited.

IF THIS PLAY COMES UP

Here's Your Decision

If a pitcher, while not in his proper position on the rubber, delivers the ball to the batsman, and the batsman does not strike at it, the umpire rules it a ball whether it passed over the plate or not, provided no one was on the bases at the time. If, with a runner or runners on the bases, the pitcher so delivers a ball at which the batsman does not strike, it is ruled a balk, all runners being entitled to advance one base. If the batsman strikes at such an illegally delivered ball, it counts either as a strike or whatever play may follow.

JIMMY NUSS WINS PRESS DECISION IN FRITZ KNIPP BOUT

WATERLOO, Ia.—Jimmy Nuss, Racine, won a newspaper decision over Fritz Knipp, Waterloo, in a ten-round bout here Tuesday night. The first four rounds were even but the Wisconsin boxer started to pile up a lead in the fifth and sixth rounds. The bell saved Knipp in the seventh. Knipp rallied in the tenth but Nuss finished strong. Both men are middleweights.

RYAN TURNS BACK CARDINALS, 6 TO 0

New York Twirler Helped Out by Teammate's Heavy Slugging Tuesday

DUNCAN'S TRIPLE WITH ALL SACKS FULL TRIMS BRAVES

Pirates Take Second from Dodgers, 8 to 2

ST. LOUIS—Bill Ryan turned back the Cardinals on Tuesday, winning 6 to 0, due to the slugging of his mates and his masterful hurling. Pertica was wild and Sherdel was sent into the fray after the game was apparently lost. The seventh inning was the only frame in which the Giants failed to get a man on base, Sherdel proving effective. Score: New York.....200 022 000—6 St. Louis.....000 000 000—0 Batteries: Ryan and Snyder; Sherdel, Walker, Pertica and Almsmith, Clemons.

Reds, 4; Braves, 1

CINCINNATI—Duncan's triple with the bases full in the sixth inning was the main factor in giving Cincinnati a 4 to 1 victory over Boston here on Tuesday. Donahue pitched brilliantly, a wild throw by Bohne letting in Boston's only run. Marquard was invincible until the sixth when two hits and his own error on Donahue's bunt filled the bases. Score: Cincinnati.....001 000 000—4 Boston.....000 004 000—1 Batteries: Marquard, McQuillan and Bowdy; Donahue and Hargrave.

Pirates 8; Robins 2

PITTSBURGH—By hitting Cadore freely, forcing him out in the fourth inning, the Pirates easily won the second straight game from Brooklyn on Tuesday, 8 to 2. Sensational catches by Carey, Bigbee and B. Griffith were features. Score: Pittsburgh.....000 000 110—2 Brooklyn.....012 320 000—8

Phils, 9; Cubs, 4

CHICAGO—Parkinson's home run drive into left field bleachers with two men on base in the seventh inning gave Philadelphia a lead which Chicago was unable to overcome, and the visitors won the first game of the series on Tuesday, 9 to 4. Score: Philadelphia.....010 002 402—9 Chicago.....001 200 010—4

MONTAGUE'S SCHEDULE CASHTON FOR OPENING GAME HERE WHEN SPARTA CANCELS ENGAGEMENT

With the cancellation by Sparta of their baseball engagement with the Montague club here on Sunday, J. E. Nickels, manager of the locals announced Wednesday that Cashton has been scheduled for the opening day event this week. Manager Nickels stated that Sparta's cause for canceling the game was that they had no pitcher in sight to bring here. The announcement that Cashton will be greeted by many local fans in that several La Crosse men are identified with that club. Art Tanke will be seen at the receiving end as a battery partner with Al Shotton, who has again been retained by the Cashton club. Shotton was one of the foremost hurlers in the league comprising Cashton, Viroqua, Soldiers Grove, Viola, La Farge and other towns in that vicinity last year. In addition to Tanke, Cashton has "Bugs" Williams and Rogstad, both of La Crosse, and will be seen with the opposing club here Sunday. Sunday's game will be the first for the Montagues in the role of a major club in the city of La Crosse. It was unable to stage home games last year because of the lack of a diamond but this year will share Copeland park with the Nelsons. Fans will be eager to see the club under fire on the home grounds and it is expected with favorable weather that the club will be given a rousing sendoff on its first appearance here. Gunderson, of the normal, will hurl for the locals.

JACK DEMPSEY DUCKS WHEN "SHY" PARISIANNE LISPS: "O, MARRY ME"

PARIS—By the Associated Press—Among Jack Dempsey's numerous visitors here Tuesday was a trim Parisian cloak model. She asked Dempsey to marry her, saying she was just his age and of his tastes and temperament. She was sure they would be happy together. She was fond of children, she said, and could cook, embroider, sing and dance. Dempsey listened attentively to the offer, then explained to mademoiselle, with a twinkle in his eye, that all proposals for matches with him must be made through his manager Kearns. The French boxing federation Tuesday presented the champion with a gold watch charm. He has presented more than 2,000 autographed photographs to French and other admirers.

WHEN YOU BUY OIL the chief question is: Are you getting a specialized lubricating oil—or oil which is merely an incidental by-product of some gasoline refinery?

Price per gallon, or "looks," or "feel," or chemical tests cannot answer that question. Then how can you be sure?

Ask for a 5-gallon can of Gargoyle Mobiloil—the grade recommended for your car.

Gargoyle Mobiloil is a specialized lubricating oil, carefully refined from crude oil specially chosen for its lubricating value.

Sheer superiority of results accounts for the fact that throughout the country there are more specific requests for Gargoyle Mobiloil than for any 3 other oils combined.
